Okay, so we're diving into the Urantia books, cosmology and these seven master spirits. It's a wild ride. Let me tell you, it's not just some, like, hierarchy in the cosmos. This is about beings who've, like, actually shaped the universe. Yeah, and it's great. You're already familiar with the Urantia books, and no need to, like, start with the basics. We can just jump right into these master spirits. Master spirits.

J John 00:17

S Sarah 00:22

Exactly. No need for a crash course today. Let's get right into it. So we're talking master spirits. It's like they each took a part of the Trinity's, you know, essence, and said, All right, time to build a universe. That's a really good way to put it. So the arachia book tells us that from the Trinity, the Father, Son and Spirit, there are seven different ways to combine their divine essence. Like, oh, think of it. Like mixing those primary colors, you get a whole spectrum, right? Oh. okay. so it's not iust a random number. So it's like. this fundamental thind. exactlv.

J John 00:34

S Sarah 00:47

And we

J John 00:51

see that in how the entire grand universe is structured, it's divided into these seven super universes, and each of those is overseen by a Master Spirit. So they're like cosmic artists, each with their own style influencing their creations precisely.

S Sarah 01:00

J John 01:07

So take Master Spirit number two, for example. This one embodies the creative nature of the sun. So now picture an entire universe just shaped by that energy, right? The art, the music, the beauty, maybe like living in a masterpiece. Okay, now I gotta know about the others. Well, let's skip ahead to number five. This is like the ultimate engineer. It's the father's power mixed with the Spirit's boundless energy. We're talking about gravity, electromagnetism, all those forces in the universe.

S Sarah 01:19

J John 01:23

S Sarah 01:34

So we've got one out there composing these grand, cosmic symphonies, and another one making sure the lights stay on. Yeah,

J John 01:40

and each one contributes to the whole big picture. But don't forget about number seven, which is the one that we have this direct connection with. That's the one in charge of our super universe. Orvington, okay, yeah, tell me more about that one. What makes our corner of the universe so special?

S Sarah 01:50

Okay, yeah, tell me more about that one. What makes our corner of the universe so special? Well, the interesting thing here is that Master Spirit, number seven embodies the Father Son and Spirit equally, it reflects how they're unified as the paradise Trinity. So this could mean that orvington has this unique harmony and balance to it kind of a sweet spot, you know. So we lucked out. What does that actually mean for us, though? Does that like, give us a boost up the cosmic evolutionary ladder or something?

J John 01:55

S Sarah 02:10

J John 02:17

Yeah, that's a really good question, and it's something that the Urantia Book hints at it says that having this connection with Master Spirit number seven could actually help us understand the Trinity better, like we've got a direct line to understanding the source of everything. Wow. So are master spirits like a divine tutor helping us wrap our heads around the Trinity. That's incredible, and the connection goes even deeper. The Urantia Book also talks about the cosmic mind. Have you ever heard of that? Yeah, yeah. Okay, so it's like this universal network of intelligence that connects everything in creation. And guess where it comes from? Wait,

S Sarah 02:33

J John 02:38

S Sarah 02:50

don't tell me the seven master spirits.

J John 02:55

You got it. This cosmic mind is like a subtle background hum, and it connects all beings at the most fundamental level. And that's why some ideas just resonate really deeply within us, or why we feel that spark of recognition when we connect with a kindred spirit. So it's like when you hear a song and it just yeah, you feel like it was written for you, yeah, you know, how did this already exist inside me Exactly? Or like when you meet someone and it feels like you've known them forever. The Urantia Book would probably say that that's the cosmic mind doing its thing. It's subtly reminding us that we're connected. We have a shared history that gives me chills. So we're all tuned into this cosmic radio station, picking up on each other's frequencies. But if everyone's tuned in, then how come not everyone feels it like you don't see everyone walking around feeling that oneness.

S

Sarah 03:30

J

John 03:41

That is where our choices come in. And that's what gets really interesting when we talk about morality, and how we develop as people within this big, cosmic picture morality, yeah, now that's something we can all relate to. It's like a minefield out there. It's true. There's no rule book, is there, right?

S

Sarah 03:50

J

John 03:56

And that's what makes it so interesting. It's not about following those rules, you know, it's about making choices. Yeah, choices that feel true to you, to truth and beauty and goodness.

S

Sarah 04:07

So how do we know what's good and true, especially when it's hard and there's no easy answer.

J

John 04:11

That is where the cosmic mind comes in, and our thought adjuster, that piece of the Universal Father right inside each of us is like really, our own personal compass always pointing us in the right direction toward our best self. Okay, so we've got this compass, but what if it's broken? Life gets crazy. It's really easy to get lost in the day to day and forget about all that. How do we make that connection stronger so we can actually hear it that guidance? That's a question that the Urantia Book answers head on. It's all about making space to reflect, to listen to that inner voice, meditation, spending time in nature, even just taking a few moments to be quiet. These help us tune out all the noise of the world, and then we can hear that quieter voice, the divine frequency. So it's about quieting the mind to hear that whisper makes sense. It's not always so easy, though, is it? It's a practice, of course, like anything else takes time, takes effort, but the Urantia Book tells us that our thought adjusters, they're infinitely patient, always there, waiting for us to just turn inward and ask.

S

Sarah 04:24

J John 04:36

S Sarah 04:56

J John 05:02

S Sarah 05:13

That's good to know that we've got that support even when we mess up. But there's more to it than just us, right? The Urantia Book talks about this incredible destiny for all of humanity. Where does this cosmic evolution idea fit in?

J John 05:28

This is where it gets exciting. It's like this. The Urantia Book says that the universe is always evolving, always moving towards greater unity, greater understanding. And we are not just along for the ride. We have an important role to play in all of this.

S Sarah 05:43

I'm ready. How do we do that? Contribute to cosmic evolution? Seems like a pretty big job.

J John 05:47

It starts with those choices. We were just talking about kindness instead of selfishness, expressing our best selves in the world. Every time we do that, it's not just our own lives we're impacting. We're contributing to something bigger. We're contributing to the evolution of consciousness itself. So every little bit of good we do, it has these cosmic implications, absolutely every act of love, every real connection, every time we stand up for what's right, it all matters. It sends ripples through that cosmic mind, moving the universe towards greater harmony. And as we evolve as individuals, that ability to contribute. It grows exponentially.

S Sarah 06:02

J John 06:06

S Sarah 06:23

I love that. It makes you look at the potential for good and a whole new light. The Urantia Book doesn't sugarcoat things, though, does it? I mean, our world, yeah, there's a lot of suffering, a lot of conflict. How do we reconcile that with this idea, this vision of cosmic evolution? That's very true. It doesn't. The Urantia Book doesn't shy away from the realities, the pain, the uncertainty, the fact that we're constantly battling between our best and worst selves, but it tells us that those challenges, they aren't obstacles, they are opportunities.

J John 06:38

S Sarah 06:51

That's one way to look at it. So the hard stuff is actually a chance to get closer to to our spiritual core Exactly.

J John 06:56

It's like we have to go through the fire to refine our spiritual gold. Those challenges, they're not punishments. They're opportunities, opportunities to develop resilience, compassion and a deeper understanding of ourselves and the universe.

S Sarah 07:12

So the hard stuff, the difficult times we go through, they can actually bring us closer to to that spiritual core. Yeah, we go through the fire, and it refines us like gold. Those challenges, they aren't punishments, right? They're opportunities. They help us develop resilience, compassion and a deeper understanding of ourselves and of this universe we're in. That's,

J John 07:19

S Sarah 07:33
yeah, that's a powerful way to look at it. It's not about trying to escape suffering, but finding a way to grow from it,

J John 07:39
exactly. And this is where, this is where our connection to the seven master spirits, and especially our own Master Spirit number seven, it takes on a whole new meaning. Don't you think, yeah, okay, yeah, tell me more about that. What does Master Spirit number seven have to do with it? Well, remember, Master Spirit number seven embodies the unified nature of the Trinity, Father, Son and Spirit as one, right, right? So as we grow spiritually, as we become more aligned with our thought adjusters, we start to reflect that, that Divine unity. It starts to show up in our lives.

S Sarah 07:49

J John 07:53

S Sarah 08:12
We're like little microcosms of that perfect harmony. Yes, we

J John 08:16
start to see how everything's connected, not just as a concept, you know, but we really experience it. We see that spark of the divine everywhere we look, in ourselves and in everyone else. It's like what we were talking about earlier, right? That oneness with everything, with the cosmos. That's

S Sarah 08:26

J John 08:31
it. It's a process. It takes time. But as we evolve, we become more and more tuned in to that cosmic harmony, the one orchestrated by the master of spirits. It's like we're all part of this, this grand symphony, and we each have our own part to play. I like that. That's a beautiful way to put it. But if we're all part of this big orchestra, then what's it all for? What are we all working towards? That's the big question, isn't it? And the Urantia Book really dives deep into that. It talks about this incredible journey of spiritual ascent. It never ends, this constant exploration of the cosmos and of the Divine. So it's not about reaching some final destination, right? It's about the journey itself. Exactly.

Sarah 08:47

J

John 08:55

S

Sarah 09:06

J

John 09:10

It's a grand adventure in soul growth, this never ending search for knowledge, for wisdom, for an ever expanding love. Yeah? And we're not alone in it, you know, we have the support of our thought adjusters, the guidance of those master spirits, and we've got all these other souls on their own journeys. It's a group effort.

Sarah 09:26

Wow. This has been incredible. It's amazing how the Urantia Book takes these really complex cosmic ideas and makes them personal. It shows us how to connect with the divine in our everyday lives. It really is an incredible work. I hope this was insightful for you, that it sparked something. It definitely did makes you want to keep searching, keep asking questions, yeah, and just do better, live up to those higher principles. So to everyone listening, I encourage you, dive into the Urantia Book Yourself, see what speaks to you, and start your own journey. Until next time everyone keep searching, keep questioning you. And keep reaching for the stars.

J

John 09:39

S

Sarah 09:43
