J John 00:00

Okay, so are you ready to have your mind blown? Because today we are diving deep into the world of angels. Oh, yeah, specifically the primary supernat from the Urantia Book, right? You, our amazing listeners have sent us this excerpt paper 27 Uh huh. And let me tell you, it is dense. Yeah, we're talking about being so perfect. Yeah, they make your average guardian angel look like they're still, like an angel kindergarten. It's true. This text paints a picture of these angels as, like, residing in paradise, right? And they have never, ever strayed from righteousness, like they've never had, like, the whole rebellion thing or doubt. Yeah? They just exist in this state of constant communion with the divine.

S Sarah 00:27

J John 00:41

Yeah, no, no angelic growing pains for these guys, right? But here's what I find fascinating, is they're not just sort of hanging out in eternal bliss. You know, according to this text, they actually play a really crucial role in the afterlife. Yes, they act as guides for souls who arrive in paradise. It's not instant enlightenment, right? You see, you have to imagine, like, arriving in Paradise after everything you've gone through. Yeah, you probably need a little bit of help adjusting, right? For sure. like understanding what are the rules in this new reality? Yeah. that's where these primary supernat them come in. Okay? They're like cosmic mentors, guiding souls through a structured progression to help them acclimate to, like, eternity.

S Sarah 00:59

J John 01:24

Okay, so you're saying we need an eternity orientation. You do, okay? You really do all right. So who are these angelic mentors? Like, what kind of guidance are they actually giving? So you first encounter the instigators of rest, and trust me, the name is very fitting. So from what I've read, it's not about napping for all eternity. No, although that doesn't sound too bad, it doesn't sound bad some days. No, this is about something far deeper, okay. It describes seven levels of rest, okay, that these angels help souls understand and embrace, okay? And one of the most intriguing is this deep sleep of metamorphosis. Okay, so imagine a state of rest so profound that it allows your very being to transform. You can shed old limitations and awaken to like new potentiality so deep sleep of metamorphosis. I am definitely adding that to my self care vocabulary. You should it puts a whole new spin on those afternoon power and apps.

S Sarah 01:32

J John 01:37

S Sarah 01:44

J John 02:10

S Sarah 02:18

There you go, right and the text describes the awakening from this rest with this beautiful imagery, okay, and there shall be no more sleep. Wow. Just imagine that, that sense of eternal renewal, of boundless energy that's aligned with divine purpose.

J John 02:34

Okay, now I'm starting to get a serious case of afterlife and yay. But this is just the beginning of the journey, right? This is just the start. There's a whole hierarchy of these angels, each with their unique role to play. You're

S Sarah 02:45
exactly right. After the instigators of rest, then come the chiefs of assignment, okay,

J John 02:50
wait, even in paradise there's bureaucracy, right? Talk about a buzzkill. But think of it this way. Paradise is described as this incredibly vast and diverse realm, okay, with beings from countless worlds and experiences, there needs to be some structure, some way, to ensure that everyone's talents and aspirations are utilized in a harmonious way.

S Sarah 02:54

J John 03:12
So the chiefs of assignment are like the ultimate cosmic HR department. They're making sure everyone finds their perfect place. Yes, you know the grand scheme of things. Yes, exactly. They help souls navigate this new world, understand the social structure of paradise and then find their unique path within this grand, cosmic order.

S Sarah 03:20

J John 03:33
It's making me rethink my whole perspective on what it means to be organized. There you go. Okay, so we've rest. We've been assigned, right what wisdom awaits us next on this incredible cosmic journey,

S Sarah 03:44
next you encounter the interpreters of ethics. Okay? Now,

J John 03:48
when I first read that, I thought, wait a minute, isn't everybody in paradise already inherently good? It's a good question, right? And it highlights something really crucial about this text, okay, it's not about perfection, it's about growth and learning. It's about the journey, not just the destination. It's about the process, not just the outcome. It's about the journey, not just the destination. It's about the process, not just the outcome.

about imposing these rules from on high, but it's about fostering understanding and ensuring harmonious interactions. Because remember, Paradise isn't homogenous, right? It's made up of beings from countless backgrounds, each with their own like unique experiences and perspectives. Even though everyone there is supposedly perfect, there's still a need for ethical guidance. Yes. There's still a need for bridging those different perspectives and making sure everyone's on the same page exactly, so to speak, yes, okay,

S Sarah 04:30

the interpreters of ethics help souls grasp the nuances of celestial ethics, ensuring everyone understands the principles that govern this realm of perfect beings. It's fascinating. It makes you wonder what kind of ethical dilemmas could possibly arise in paradise, right? Maybe we should ask for deep dive on that someday. Now that would be an interesting one. Okay, so we've had some rest. We've figured out our place. We've brushed up on our cosmic etiquette, yes, what's next on this grand tour of paradise? Okay? Who guides us? This amazing new reality that would be the directors of conduct. Directors of conduct, okay, I'm already imagining some kind of cosmic rule book, right? How to properly greet a Seraphim, right? Appropriate attire for an audience with the divine that sort of thing.

J John 04:40

S Sarah 05:02

J John 05:15

Not quite. Okay. It's not about rigid rules, okay, but it's about fostering a natural flow and avoiding confusion. Okay, remember, we're talking about a realm where everything exists in perfect harmony. Yeah, the directors of conduct help souls understand the unspoken language of this divine dance, ensuring that everything moves smoothly and gracefully. So more like cosmic choreographers than cosmic rule enforcers. Exactly. Think

S Sarah 05:38

J John 05:41

...with this. Maybe it's not a rule book, but a guidebook. A guidebook that shows the way to this or it like this. You're stepping onto a stage where everyone already knows the steps to this incredibly complex but beautiful dance.

S

Sarah 05:49

Right? The directors of conduct help you find your rhythm, your place within the flow, so you can move in perfect harmony with everyone else.

J

John 05:57

Now, that sounds like a party I want to be at. Right? All right, what other incredible beings will we encounter on this journey through the angelic hierarchy? Oh, there's so many more. Let's do it. Last time we were on this deep dive into the Urantia books, angelic hierarchy, yes, we're exploring these fascinating roles of these perfect beings, the primary supernatm, that's right. And we just met the directors of conduct, who help souls kind of navigate the intricate dance of paradise, right? So what other wonders await us in this cosmic ballroom?

S

Sarah 06:30

Well, get ready to expand your mind, because Next up are the custodians of knowledge.

J

John 06:34

Okay, I am already picturing a celestial library filled with these like infinite shelves of glowing books. Is it finally time to learn the answer to life the universe in everything? Think bigger. Imagine if instead of books, the knowledge itself was like embodied in these magnificent beings. Okay, the custodians of knowledge are living libraries holding the entire history and wisdom of the universe within them that makes, like, the most impressive earthly library look like a dusty old attic, right? So we get to, like, have a conversation with a nebula, or debate philosophy with a black hole. Think of it as interactive learning on like a cosmic scale. The text suggests that you don't just read this knowledge. You experience it. Okay? Imagine engaging with a being who embodies the very concept you're trying to understand, and you can feel its essence resonate with your own okay. Now that's an education I can get behind. Forget textbooks and lectures. Sign me up for a cosmic knowledge download. There you go. But with all of this incredible information swirling around, how do we even begin to make sense of it all? That's where the masters of philosophy come in. Okay? They're like these ultimate cosmic professors guiding souls through the vast landscape of universal knowledge. So if the custodians of knowledge are the library, the masters of fluffy are the ones who teach us how to read.

S

Sarah 06:45

J

John 07:01

S

Sarah 07:13

John 07:29

Sarah 07:43

John 07:52

Sarah 07:59

You could say that they're the ones who encourage you to connect the dots, okay, explore the deeper meaning and implications of everything you've learned. And the text suggests they use communication methods beyond human comprehension, okay, allowing for a level of intellectual exchange that's hard to even imagine, cosmic mind melds, telepathic debates, sure. Okay, now my brain is officially starting to hurt. Yeah, in a good way, of course, soup way. It does make you realize how limited our current ways of thinking and communicating really are, absolutely, but it's also exciting to think about the potential for growth and expansion. You know, even beyond this earthly existence, absolutely, and just when you thought we'd reach peak enlightenment we come to, like, the final order of primary supernat them. Okay, the conductors of worship.

John 08:15

Sarah 08:38

John 08:47

The conductors of worship. Yes, from what I've read, worship in paradise isn't just about like singing hymns or reciting prayers. Yeah, it's a visceral, all encompassing experience of joy and gratitude.

S

Sarah 08:59

Yes, imagine the most profound sense of awe and wonder you've ever felt. Okay. Now magnify that by a billion. Wow. The conductors of worship help souls channel those emotions to express their very essence in a way that harmonizes with like the divine symphony of paradise.

J

John 09:15

It's almost like they're conductors of an orchestra, but instead of instruments, it's the very souls of these ascended beings, yes, creating this incredible symphony of reverence and joy.

S

Sarah 09:26

That's a beautiful way to put it. Okay, and you know, the text doesn't really specify what happens after this point in the soul's journey. Okay? It's like reaching the peak of a mountain range only to find even grander peaks stretching out before you. So even after experiencing the guidance of all seven orders of primary supernat them, the journey of an ascending soul isn't over,

J

John 09:40

S

Sarah 09:48

not at all. In fact, according to this text, it's just the beginning of a whole new chapter.

J

John 09:52

Okay, now you've really got my attention. What could be more significant than this incredible journey through the angelic order? Years. I know it's hard to imagine what lies beyond the peak of this celestial mountain. Welcome back to the deep dive. We are navigating the celestial realms of Urantia, that's right. And if you are just joining us, you might want to catch up on parts one and two, because things are about to get really cosmic. We are talking about the next stage of a soul's journey after they have experienced those seven orders of primary super nephem. Okay, it's a concept this text refers to as the seventh Jubilee.

S

Sarah 10:20

J

John 10:32

Okay, the seventh Jubilee now we've already covered the first six jubilees, right? Those pivotal moments of growth and transformation on the path to Paradise, yes, but you're saying this seventh Jubilee, well, it's not just another step on the path. You got it? Okay? Give it this way. Okay, the previous six jubilees, they're all about personal growth, right? You are evolving from this soul, newly emerged in the universe, to this being of refined spiritual substance in paradise. Okay, the seventh Jubilee marks this profound shift from like personal evolution to eternal service, so less about me and more about becoming part of something infinitely larger, exactly. But what does that actually look like? What do these souls actually do after they've reached this level of existence?

S

Sarah 10:43

J

John 10:48

S

Sarah 11:05

J

John 11:17

That is the million dollar question, right? And you know, like with many things in these texts, we're given glimpses, rather than, like a really detailed map, right? We know that souls who have experienced the seventh Jubilee become eligible to join the core of the finality.

S

Sarah 11:31

The core of the finality, and the name itself is kind of loaded. It really is. It sounds final, like reaching that ultimate destination, the end of the line for spiritual evolution, but you're suggesting it's not that simple. You got it? Okay?

J

John 11:39

S

Sarah 11:44

Remember, we're dealing with concepts that stretch beyond our linear understanding of time and purpose. Okay? The Text hints that the core of the finality is about aligning your will, okay, completely with the Divine Will, becoming an instrument of God the ultimate.

... 10 00

J John 12:00

So it's not about achieving this static state of perfection. No, it's this ongoing process, yes, of participation in the unfolding of the cosmos. Yes, it's like graduating from Soul school, right, to become this fully realized citizen of eternity. And

S Sarah 12:17

what's even more interesting is this excerpt suggests that achieving this level of unity, it brings about the ultimate challenge, a face to face encounter with God, the ultimate Okay,

J John 12:27

now that's a meeting I would need a lot of preparation for. But what does that even mean? Right? How do you even define a challenge in a realm where suffering and imperfection don't exist? That is the beauty of these texts, right? They spark more questions than they answer. For sure, maybe it's not about a test okay, or a trial in the traditional sense, okay. Perhaps it's about confronting the incomprehensibility of the first source Okay, coming face to face with the vastness of creation and like your place within it. That sounds more terrifying than a pop quiz, right? But it also speaks to this idea that we've been kind of circling around this whole time, yes, that learning never truly ends, right? Even in paradise, right? Even in unity with the divine, there's always another level of understanding to strive for.

S Sarah 12:38

J John 12:58

S Sarah 13:15

And who knows, maybe that's what keeps existence itself eternally fascinating, the constant interplay of the known and the unknown, yeah, the finite and the infinite. It's enough to make your head spin. It is. But for me, the real takeaway from this is, whether we're talking about angels in paradise or humans on Earth, the journey of discovery never really ends. That's right, there are always new layers of understanding to uncover right within ourselves and within this vast universe around us. Beautifully put and on that note, we have reached the end of our deep dive into the angelic hierarchy of Urantia. It's been quite a journey. It has but remember, this is just one perspective, one interpretation, of a vast and complex text. So keep exploring, keep asking those questions, and who knows what other wonders you might uncover out there. I.

J John 13:25
